

COMMUNICATIONS IS THE KEY TO STAYING IN THE KNOW!

Community Media Day, celebrated annually on October 20th, shines a spotlight on the importance of accessible, independent media platforms that foster free speech and inclusivity for citizen journalists, artists, and storytellers around the world. Founded in Brooklyn, New York, by Alease Annan through her work with Brooklyn Free Speech TV, this day has grown into a global celebration, empowering local voices and encouraging open dialogue across communities.

In the City of Laurel, the celebration of Community Media Day highlights the many opportunities available for residents to engage with local media. Residents can step into the spotlight by producing their own television shows on Laurel TV, showcasing their unique perspectives and talents. For those who prefer the auditory medium, starting a podcast is another fantastic way to connect with the community and share important conversations.

“As a City, we believe in giving everyone the platform to share their voice and their stories,” said Mayor Keith Sydnor. “Community Media Day is a reminder of how vital local media is in educating and empowering our residents. I encourage everyone in Laurel to take advantage of these resources to broaden their knowledge and discover all that Laurel has to offer.”

Additionally, the City of Laurel is committed to transparency and civic engagement, offering recordings of all Mayor and City Council meetings, as well as other important City gatherings. By making these accessible to the public, Laurel ensures that residents stay informed and actively participate in local governance, strengthening the values of accountability and involvement.

Laurel TV is also excited to share its plans for an upcoming rebrand, focusing on expanding its educational and community-driven programming. The rebrand will include more shows that spotlight local events, provide educational content, and highlight the stories and voices that make our City unique. This evolution reflects Laurel TV's commitment to being a platform for learning, engagement, and fostering a deeper sense of community among all residents.

“Our goal with this rebrand is to ensure that Laurel TV becomes a true educational and cultural hub for our community,” said Natalie Williams, Director of the Department of Communications for the City of Laurel. “We want residents to see Laurel TV as a resource to explore new ideas, learn about their local government, and highlight the diversity of our community by sharing their own stories.”

VOLUNTEER APPRECIATION: ANDY KOSTAS

As we mentioned in last month's edition of the Ledger, volunteers are truly the heart and soul of any organization, particularly here in the City of Laurel. Last month, we had the pleasure of recognizing one outstanding volunteer, Andy Kostas!

Andy joined the City in May 2023, initially assisting at the Laurel Farmer's Market, and his contributions quickly expanded. He became actively involved in various City events, including Black History Month, the ribbon cutting ceremony for the Laurel Multiservice Center, garden builds, and much more! This year alone, he dedicated over 110 hours! On September 12th, at the Farmer's Market, we bid farewell to Andy as he embarks on an exciting new chapter...he has enlisted in the United States military, committing himself to keeping the rest of us safe. We want to take this moment to express our gratitude to you, Andy, for all you have done for the City and for what you will now do for our country. Wishing you the best of luck in your future endeavors and stay safe!

As we send Andy off in style, this is a great time to remind everyone that we are working hard to bring you multiple opportunities for volunteering in the City of Laurel! Please take a moment and look at your schedules and see if you would have a few hours to give back to your community, then fill out our online volunteer application at www.cityoflaurel.org/volunteerapplication! When you sign up, we add you to our database and send out emails letting you know of upcoming events and connecting you with local organizations in need. And mark your calendars for our Volunteer Laurel Fair coming in April of 2025!

GREEN HAPPENINGS IN LAUREL!

Organics Recycling (Composting)...Take It For a Test Drive!

Public Works crews will continue to deliver composting carts to select neighborhoods throughout the City. Residents can expect to receive: a kitchen countertop container; educational information; a refrigerator magnet and a roll of compostable bags, along with the locking outdoor cart. The information provided makes it easy for residents to sort out what can go into their compost carts...it is so easy! Remember, what goes in your mouth is compostable!

All foods, even expired products, paper napkins/paper towels and pizza boxes are just some examples of what can be put in your composting cart. Just finished mowing your lawn or raking leaves? Reminder that loose leaves and grass clippings are also acceptable in your curbside compost cart.

Composting is the number one way that individuals can reduce methane gas emissions at our landfills, reduce the cost of tipping fees and reduce trash overflow. Be on the lookout for the City's updated web site showcasing the City's curbside program, when residents can expect to see their cart arrive, new educational information, videos from our recent trip to the County's composting facility and a dashboard highlighting our success in reducing methane gas emissions at the landfill!

We want to improve the program and get feedback from residents on what they would like to see! Send an e-mail to greenliving@laurel.md.us

Community Resources and Emergency Management: Importance of Mental Health!

October is a month filled with various observances, from Breast Cancer Awareness to Fire Prevention, which, depending on the situation, can often lead to feelings of stress and anxiety. This brings us to an important day in October that deserves our attention: World Mental Health Day is on October 10th!

Mental health refers to a state of well-being that allows individuals to handle life's stresses, recognize their potential, learn effectively, work productively, and contribute positively to their communities. It plays a crucial role in our overall well-being.

At any given moment, a variety of individual, family, community, and structural factors can either support or hinder mental health. While most people demonstrate resilience, those facing challenging situations, such as poverty, violence, disability, and inequality—are at an increased risk of developing mental health issues.

To manage stress, anxiety, grief, or worry, be sure to take breaks from news stories, including those on social media; eat healthy; get enough sleep; move more and sit less; limit alcohol intake; avoid using illegal drugs or prescription drugs in ways other than prescribed; avoid smoking, vaping, and the use of other tobacco products; make sure to get your annual physicals; make time to unwind; take deep breaths, stretch, or meditate; participate in activities you enjoy; connect with others; talk with people you trust about your concerns and how you are feeling; and connect with your community-based or faith-based organizations.

Mental health is one of the most prevalent health issues and is also highly treatable. However, the stigma associated with it often leads to it being one of the least addressed conditions. Let's take this opportunity to educate ourselves about mental health challenges and support those who are struggling. Remember, YOU ARE NOT ALONE! For further information, please visit <https://www.cdc.gov/mentalhealth/index.htm>.
